P R E F A C E:

About two years ago, while visiting my sister, Miss K. Peters in Winnipeg, I became interested in the background of the "Friesen" clan. After discussing this matter in detail, she showed willingness to do her part in compiling a genealogy of the "Friesen's". For many years it had been her main interest to produce genealogies for different families.

I must explain - my wife is a born Friesen and according to her late Uncle Dietrich J. Friesen a pure type: grey hair and dark eyebrows, a sign of the pure line of "Friesen's".

I am grateful to my sister for her diligent efforts to obtain the necessary information needed for such a book. It was not always easy to locate the different branches belonging into this book. & secondly to get those people interested enough to take the time to fill out the questionnaire. But now I am grateful for every participant.

The book is now ready and holds vast information, i.e. as much as could be obtained - for those who are interested in their background and the many related branches.

The Coat of Arms of the FRIESEN'S is an added feature - if for no other reason than perhaps for a decorative purpose. The genealogy is now presented to you. It is my hope and prayer that you may find it interesting and useful and also a blessing and challenge to live a life, which - when the last book will be opened - may show that you and I have tried by the grace of God to glorify His Holy Name. -

Gerhard I. Peters.

Coat of Arms

Friesen

Historiography

The Friesen Coat of Arms illustrated left was drawn by an heraldic artist from information officially recorded in ancient heraldic archives. Documentation for the Friesen Coat of Arms design can be found in Rietstap Armorial General. Heraldic artists of old developed their own unique language to describe an individual Coat of Arms. In their language, the Arms (shield) is as follows:

"Ec.: au 1 et 4 d'or aigle de profil de sa., cour. du champ, celle du 1 cont.; aux 2 et 3 d'arg. a une branche de rosier tige et feuilliee de sin., fleurie de trois pieces de gu, sur le tout de griesen qui est d'arg. a une demi-etoile de gu, defoillante a sen. et un croiss. figure et tourne du mene, s'entretouchant."

When translated the Arms description is:

"Divided: 1 and 4 gold, a black eagle in profile, 2 and 3 silver, a branch of a rose tree, stems and leaves of green, flowered with three red roses over all, a small shield of silver with one half a red star on the right a red crescent with the figure of a face."

Above the shield and helmet is the Crest which is described as:

"L'aigle du 1, iss."

A translation of the Crest description is:

"An eagle with a crown."

Family mottoes are believed to have originated as battle cries in medieval times.

A Motto was not recorded with the Friesen Coat of Arms.

Individual surnames originated for the purpose of more specific identification.

The four primary sources for second names were: occupation, location, father's name and personal characteristics. The surname Friesen appears to be locational in origin, and is believed to be associated with the Germans, meaning, "one who came from, or lived near Frisa." The supplementary sheet included with this report is designed to give you more information to further your understanding of the origin of names. Different spellings of the same original surname are a common occurrence. Dictionaries of surnames indicate probable spelling variations. The most prominent variations of Friesen are Friesen, Frisen, Frisens and Fresen.

Information available to us indicates there are approximately 5352 heads of households in Canada with the old and distinguished Friesen name. Statistics Canada estimates that there are approximately 3.5 persons per household in Canada which yields an approximate total of 18732 people in Canada carrying the Friesen name. Although the figure seems relatively low, it does not signify the many important contributions that individuals bearing the Friesen name have made to history.

No genealogical representation is intended or implied by this report and it does not represent individual lineage or your family tree.

Friesen

Friesen (Friese, Friesen, Fresen), a Mennonite family name in West Prussia, appearing in the rural Flemish congregation and in the Frisian congregation of the Vistula delta. Evidently in the 19th century, it was sometimes contracted from the family name "van Riesen." It was first mentioned in 1547 at Reichenberg. Fifty-nine families of this name were counted in 1776, 140 persons in 1910, and 121 persons in 1935 (without Elbing.) Abraham Friesen, a brother of Peter von Riesen, was an elder of the Kleine Gemeinde; Abraham Friesen was a missionary to India; Johann Friesen was an elder of the Kleine Gemeinde; P.M. Friesen was an outstanding Mennonite historian.

Friesen families came to America in the migration from Russia in the 1870's and also after World Wars I and II. In 1953 there were 39 Mennonite ordained Friesens in Canada, 12 in the United States, 13 in Latin America, and 3 in Africa and India. Manitoba had the largest number with a total of 24, and among the Mennonite branches the General Conference Mennonites had the largest number, with at least 19. No less than 10 Mennonite groups were represented in this list of 67 ministers. The Morris, Man., telephone directory listed 29 Friesens in 1949; Mountain Lake, Minn., 12; Hillsboro, Kansas, 16; Inman, Kansas, 21; and Reedley, California, 22. The family was scattered through South Dakota, Nebraska, Oklahoma, as well as in the above states. In the United States 41 Friesens served in Civilian Public Service during World War I. Peter A. Friesen was for many years a missionary in India (MC). (Mennonite Encyclopedia Vol.II-p.403.)

Riesen, van (von), a Mennonite family found in a number of West Prussian churches (Danzig, Ladekopp, Tiegenhagen, Heubuden, Elbing) from the early 17th century. David von Riesen was a Mennonite preacher. Cornelius von Riesen (*1754) who in 1789 moved from Damfeld in the area of Marienburg, Prussia, to Neuendorf, Russia, was from 1794 a preacher of the Frisian Mennonite Old Colony (Chortitza) congregation.

Cornelius Janzen married Helena von Riesen, the daughter of Peter von Riesen, who printed Menno's writings. David Goerz also married a Helene Riesen. Some of the Riesens who joined the Kleine Gemeinde changed their name to Friesen. Many of them settled in Jansen, Nebraska, and Manitoba. Some of the Riesens established the Brudertal Mennonite Church near Hillsboro, Kansas, and others settled in Beatrice, Nebr. Ronald von Riesen, a G.C.M. minister, served as president of Freeman College in 1951-58. (Menn. Encyclopedia Vol.IV-p.332)

Introduction

Thanks to the many people who contributed toward this genealogical record, it was possible to compile a book of this nature.

This register goes back to Johann von Riesen. Nothing more is known of him except that he passed away in Prussia, his wife remarried a Dietrich Thiessen, and they came to Russia. Also a son Julius von Riesen is mentioned, who came to Russia 1904 (B.H.Unruh-p.316). Descendants of Julius von Riesen changed their name to Friesen.

By doing work of this nature problems do arise. One of them is the different spelling of names. Some names have the german spelling, while the person involved might use the english spelling. I have tried to be accurate, but if errors have crept in, I hope you will bear with me.

A few pointers to get familiar with this book. Each generation is identified with a letter - 1st generation A, 2nd generation B, and so on. The number next to the letter - as B6 - identifies the sixth child in the second generation, F3 - the third child in the fifth generation.

In a case where a Friesen descendant deceased and husband or wife remarried and had more children (rather than leaving them out, as they are not direct descendants), they are identified with a small letter like A1-B2-C2-D8-e4, telling us that the partner of D8 remarried and e4 is of this union.

Now if you like to find the connection between - lets say Wilhelm Friesen p. 61 A1-B2-C11-D5-E6 and Nick W.Friesen p. 104 A1-B6-C4- D2-E4
you will notice that in both cases there is A1, then follows B2 and B6 - brothers, C11 and C4 - 1st cousins, D5 and D2 - second cousins, E6 and E4 - third cousins.

Charts also make it easier to find the connections, and in the back of the book you will find an index of names of the people born prior to 1960.

Cornelius Toews

He became a lawyer for all the wrong reasons, but his career shows they were fortunate mistakes

by Mavis Reimer

Cornelius H. Toews grew up like many other Mennonites, "thinking that lawyers were not an essential part of the world." So what is the Saskatoon native doing in the role of chief judge of the Provincial Court of Saskatchewan? "Well," says Judge Toews, "I didn't really plan to go to law school. While I was in law school, I thought of it as a preparation for a business career. But here I am."

Looking back at his early education, Judge Toews can see that his first steps away from his small ethnic community came in high school. Many of his peers and some of his siblings attended school at Rosthern Junior College. But when it came Cornelius' turn to enter high school, his parents couldn't afford to pay the tuition at the private school. So Cornelius enrolled at a public high school in Saskatoon. While the social life of most of the Mennonite young people in Saskatoon revolved around the church, he was finding his way into larger social circles through his high school friends.

Attending university was not a break from tradition for Judge Toews. His father, Henry B. Toews, had finished two years of Commerce at a Russian university before emigrating to Canada in 1923, and had always expected that his son would study at university. "It was not a question of if, but when." After graduation with a B.A. from the University of Saskatchewan in Saskatoon, Toews entered law, mainly, he says, "because the people I most enjoyed being with went into law school." His parents greeted this decision with concern and even alarm. "Frankly, my mother was appalled," laughs Judge Toews. "She firmly believed that lawyers are shysters."

During his first year in law studies, Cornelius married Norma Sinclair and within the year was the father of a daughter. A second child, a son, was born to the Toews just six weeks before the comprehensive exams which students sat during the third year of law. The Toews had planned that Norma, a lab technician, would support the two of them until Cornelius could become established in business. With two small children to care for, they agreed that this no longer seemed a very practical plan. When, after his articles, Cornelius was offered a short-term position as a replacement for a crown solicitor in Regina, he grabbed the chance. The short-term position turned into a permanent one and soon he was appointed as well to the position of deputy official guardian of infants.

After a three-and-a-half year stint with the attorney-general's department, Toews left public service to go into private practise. In 1968 he started his own law firm with a partner. Most of his legal work was in the area of corporate law and commercial transactions. In October, 1982, he was appointed chief judge of the Provincial Court of Saskatchewan.

Being a judge, Toews finds, is entirely different from being a lawyer. There is more time to spend with his family: at long last, he can call evenings and weekends his own. Costs and overheads need no longer be a primary concern and collecting fees no longer a primary activity.

Along with these new freedoms, of course, have come some restrictions on his freedom. A judge should not be involved in business or political activities, since these potentially pose problems of conflict of interest. It is extremely important, Judge Toews emphasizes, for the public to perceive a judge as being unbiased and impartial. There were several business interests which Toews had to relinquish on his appointment to the position of chief judge.

The difference in lifestyle, however, is only a small part of the difference between a lawyer and a judge, says Judge Toews. Perhaps the most significant change is the reorientation of his attitude to the law which a judge must make. "As a judge, you deal with facts. We don't decide whether the accused should or should not be found guilty. We decide on the facts: is he or isn't he guilty? 'Should' isn't in our vocabulary." A lawyer, says Toews, whether prosecuting or defending a case, "frequently has a cause in mind. You may feel, for example, that a guy you're defending is technically guilty, but that he shouldn't be found guilty for whatever reason." And, given our adversary system, adds Toews, it is the responsibility of a lawyer to put his best case forward.

Since his marriage, Judge Toews has been a member of the United Church, the church in which his wife was raised. When they married, he says, the Mennonite church was just not accessible to outsiders. Language was one of several barriers, with half or more of each service conducted in German in the Saskatoon church he had joined as a youth. Although it has been many years since he left the Mennonite church, Judge Toews is emphatic in his description of himself as a Mennonite.

His background, he says, has been both a help and a hindrance to him in his career. He has found that Mennonites as a group are considered to be honest and hard-working. During his years in private practise, this ethnic reputation brought him quite a few clients.

Judge Toews also credits his early training for his generally positive outlook on life. There is a sense among Mennonites, he says, that obstacles can be overcome and that life is worth living. The value accorded hard work is one expression of this, but the love of music, travel, and reading seem to Toews to be equally a part of the buoyant spirit of the Mennonites.

But there are also ways in which his early experience left him ill-prepared to join the worlds of law and business. Mennonites cultivate an unworldliness and are not really in the mainstream of life, says Judge Toews. "They don't know what's really going on. They don't understand what devious things people do." Toews comments that when he first entered private practise, he frequently marvelled at the things his peers and colleagues knew.

Judge Toews feels that the worst failure of the Mennonites as a group is their attitude toward other ethnic groups. "Mennonites teach prejudice," he says, especially toward the other emigrant groups from Russia. In many subtle ways, Judge Toews says, he was told by his family and his community that "we may be poor, but we are better."

As chief judge of the Provincial Court, Judge Toews spends most of his time in administrative work rather than in the courtroom. He is available to assist the other judges with any problems and he is responsible to sort out any problems the public may have with the judges.

Even such routine jobs as working out duty rosters for the judges, Toews finds, are bound up with his central concern of maintaining and improving the quality of the court. Under the previous administration of Chief Judge Boychuk, a system of rotation of judges was introduced. No provincial court judge is now permitted to stay in one place and see only one type of case. Judge Toews has continued this system, believing that it broadens the experience a judge takes to the bench.

Since taking office in October, 1982, Chief Judge Toews has introduced another change in the court by eliminating the use of part-time judges. In the past, lawyers in private practise would be hired by the Crown to sit as judges during the vacations or sick leaves of regular judges. Besides believing that the roles of judge and advocate require distinct attitudes to the law, Judge Toews observed that the public could not properly understand a situation where the same person might be defense council one day and judge the next. It is a situation to which he applies one of the key precepts of the common law system — justice must not only be done, but must also be seen to be done.

As Chief Judge, Toews has also become involved in promoting continuing education for provincial court judges. Currently he is sponsoring a cross-cultural seminar, which invites participants to examine and understand the biases they have toward native people. In a province where natives make up 60% of the inmate population, Judge Toews believes that it is essential that judges know something of the history, customs, and psychology of native people.

Alternatives to incarceration is another topic of moment. In the past few years, many and various forms of alternate sentencing have been inaugurated because, as Judge Toews says, "incarceration doesn't work at all." It is important that judges are educated about these programs if they are to use them effectively, and Judge Toews helps to facilitate groups who wish to approach provincial court judges with their programs.

Chief Judge Toews agrees that his new position is a challenging one. "Just a knowledge of the law doesn't make a good judge," he says. "There are so many other human qualities that are necessary — one of the most important, I think, is humility." Have there been any special rewards or satisfactions in his new position? "Well," smiles the Chief Judge, "my mother certainly finds my new job more acceptable!" Lawyers may be shysters, but judges, it seems are still wise and compassionate men.

The Twenty Third Psalm

*The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want,
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures:
He leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil:
for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies:
thou anointest my head with oil;
my cup runneth over:
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me
all the days of my life:
and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.*

After completion of elementary school in 1885, Dietrich J. Friesen entered the Chortitzer "Central-Schule". In October 1899 he was conscripted for the Forestry Service. For 3 years he served in the "Neu-Berdjaner Forestry Command" in the Melitopol area, S.Russia.

During World War I. Dietrich J.Friesen was conscripted into Medical Service, and for three years worked in the head office of the Red Cross under Count Urusm in the city of Jekaterinoslav.

In June 1923, his family was in the first party of immigrants leaving for Canada. They arrived in Rosthern Sask. in July, where they received a most hearty welcome from the Mennonite families there. In spring of 1925 a group of families, including the Friesens, moved unto a large farm 'Meilicke' at Dundurn Sask.

After a number of years of hard work on the farm, the Friesens moved with their 3 daughters (the oldest had married since) to Vancouver,BC.

In 1939 Dietrich Friesen moved to Otter Road, Aldergrove,BC. on one acre of land. They tried to make their living by keeping around 200 laying hens and $\frac{1}{2}$ acre of strawberries. They retired in 1957.

Sep. 4,1962 they moved to the Menno Home in Abbotsford,BC.

Daughter of Jacob Wiens & Katharina nee Neufeld-p.11

They had no family but took in two orphan girls, their nieces. In 1913 their niece Margaret (9 yrs.) daughter of Isaak Friesen, found a home here. Later Anna (Njunja) Friesen (15 yrs) daughter of Johann Friesen, also joined the family.

Julius Friesens lived on their estate in Grishino from 1909 till 1918. Forced by the revolution, they had to leave everything and flee. For one year they stayed in Kuruschan, later came to Landskrone.

In 1925 they came with many other Mennonites to Canada. They purchased a farm in Dundurn,Sask. and lived ther 12 years. Their two foster daughters married during these years. Now they left for Sardis,B.C., where they got a small farm. After some years this was too much for them and they built a small house close to the church, where they wanted to spend the last years of their life in peace. But they were here only for a short time. After two months Mr. Friesen was called to his eternal home. This was very hard on Mrs. Friesen and she longed to be together with her husband. The Lord answered her prayer and 9 months later she was permitted to join him. Both foster daughters and also the grandchildren remember them with respect and love.

Dietrich Jacob Friesen, son of the well-off Jacob D.Friesen and Maria nee Zacharias, was born Jan.18, 1882 on the estate "Friesental", USSR. He attended the elementary school, later high school (Zentral-Schule), and served the country four years in the forestry.

Friesen

1909 he was joined in holy matrimony with Aganetha Heinrichs, who was born July 7, 1886, also on an estate. Their first son passed away within a year. The Lord blessed them with two more sons, Jacob and Kornelius. - They bought an estate close to Sofijewka and were doing fine. But hard times came. War broke out and Dietrich was enlisted in the Medical Corps. Father and brothers had to help harvest the grain.

Dietrich returned 1918. One night, after being home for one week, the dogs made a terrible noise. Soon after somebody tried to break the door. Dietrich went to the door. Upon request, "Who is there?" a bullet whizzed passed his head. He called his wife: come, our life is in danger! He escaped through the window, also his wife's sister Lena, but his wife did not want to leave the 2 little boys behind, besides she was expecting another child. Dietrich was standing in the shadow of a tree and watched the bandits as they entered the house, demanded the keys, then shot his wife from the back and left. The grief was great, only the Lord could comfort him.

Now he moved with his children and mother to Chortitza. His father had passed away shortly before. The following spring they returned to the estate to plant a garden. Dietrich did not want to stay overnight, but his mother encouraged him to trust in the Lord, so he and his son Jacob went to sleep in the hayloft. Soon after they heard dogs barking and shots were fired. After everything was quiet again, Dietrich went down and found them all in the basement - killed: his mother, brother Isaak, sisters Margareta and Katharina, and even his 3 year old son Kornjuscha, only Willy, hidden between 2 doors, was alive.

These 5 bodies were buried in Chortitza. Some of the people present at the funeral were killed two months later. The remaining members of the family stayed together - Dietrich with his son Jacob, sister Maria (Mrs. Neufeld) and Wilhelm. The latter married Anna Hildebrand, who soon passed away leaving no family. Later he married a widow with one child. They had another child together. Then he passed away.

Maria's husband Peter Neufeld with his brother Hermann were both arrested and are missing. Maria was exiled with her three children.

Dietrich Jacob Friesen remarried May 29, 1921 Anna Unger. Rev. Wall from Miloradowka officiated at the wedding. The text was Matth 6:33.

We came to Canada 1923 arriving in Sunnyslope, Alta. Aug. 21. Jacob Redekopps took us into their home. Two weeks later we went to Wilhelm Redekopps, where Dietrich was able to help in the harvest. The following spring we rented a farm, but a year later we bought a big farm with seven other families. Hard times came, but we were all able to pay back our travel expenses to Canada. Big sandstorms came, so we changed to renting the place. In ten years we had horses and a few other items and moved on a small farm in Glenbush, Sask. The winters were cold, so in 1936 we moved with 5 children to Yarrow, B.C. Jacob had married and stayed on the farm. Peter was 14 and Hans 4 years. We depended fully on the Lord and prayed much, and the Lord opened a door. We rented a 40-acre farm, bought cows (on a bank loan) and felt the Lord's blessing. The children all went to school, but mornings and nights they helped with the farm work.

We bought a house in Vancouver in 1954. Frieda and Hans came to live with us, while Willie and Anna stayed in the old house. Later we bought a rooming house and Dietrich took care of it. This was only of short duration as a year later he became ill. Upon consulting a doctor surgery followed - it was cancer. He suffered much, and after another operation he went to be with the Lord on Aug. 21, 1955.

I have now been a widow for 19 years. "The Lord is a Father of the fatherless and a judge of the widows" (Ps. 68:5) this I have experienced.

Contributed by Mrs. Anna Friesen nee Unger.
