Karsdorp - Kasdorf

Karsdorp was a former Dutch Mennonite family name, especially found in Leiden, where Jan Karsdorp was a deacon of the Flemish congregation 1695-97, and of the (in 1700) united Mennonite congregation 1714-17; Nicolas Karsdorp was five times a deacon of this congregation during the period 1725-62, and Anthony Karsdorp four times in 1747-77. The Karsdorps were rather well-to-do merchants. Gerrit Karsdorp, Jr. as well as his father Gerrit Karsdorp Sr. both preachers at Hamburg, Germany, were members of this family. Another member of this family, Abraham Karsdorp, a carpenter at Dordrecht, Dutch province of South Holland, was custodian of the meetinghouse and the last member of the Dordrecht congregation when it died out about the middle of the 19th century. After his death his nephew J. Karsdorp considered himself private owner of the properties of the congregation, as did after his death in 1865 his heirs, who sold the meetinghouse and appropriated the funds ^{of the} congregation. Harmen Karsdorp, Jr., from Hamburg, apparently belonging to the same family, emigrated to Pennsylvania in 1700, with his wife Adriana de Vos and their children, and became a preacher of the Germantown congregation. Isaac Karsdorp (d. before 1708), who also went to Germantown in 1700, probably also emigrated from Hamburg.

The Prussian Mennonite name Kasdorf, found in Prussia, Russia and America, is probably of the same origin as Karsdorp.

The Jacob Kasdorf Family

By Lore Lubosch

When Jacob Kasdorf arrived in Canada some few years ago, he thought he "could never live without a cow." He and his wife, Kaethe, had always worked with cattle, even as children on their respective family farms near Curitiba, Brazil. By the time they were married and owned their own dairy farm, they were experienced in the business and managed well. Jacob processed and sold the milk himself, taking it into the nearby city. Even though this meant more work, avoiding the costly middleman was well worth the effort.

The farm prospered and grew, and the family did likewise: in 15 years, 13 children were born. Like their parents, they learned to work at a tender age. By the time they were eight years old, they could milk a cow, and from then on they were expected to join in with chores. A neighbor, who often witnessed the ever increasing line of little Kasdorfs filing into the barn at dawn, is said to have jokingly remarked: "Jacob probably snatches the baby from its cradle so that it does its share of work." Somehow the children understood that, with so many mouths to feed, and so much work to be done, they must pitch in.

Until the late 1960's all went well, but then circumstances changed. The countryside surrounding Curitiba was once dotted with Mennonite homesteads, mostly dairy farms, but as the city grew, it smothered one farm after another. The owners of these farms were forced to relocate further out, or to look for work within the city.

When the Kasdorf farm began to feel the squeeze of the city, the family decided to emigrate to Canada. A brother, Peter Kasdorf, who had been here since 1929, offered to apply for their visas, 18 altogether. Two sons-in-law had already been added to the family, and one son, Hans, remained in Brazil to marry. As soon as the others were established in Canada, Hans and his wife were to follow.

Once the decision to leave had been made, things moved quickly and so, 2-1/2 years ago, the Kasdorfs arrived in Winnipeg. Arnold, Ewald, Alfred, Rudi, Erna, and Elvira went straight to school. Woldemar, Marlene, Robert, Heinz and Mrs. Kasdorf found work immediately and went to it with gusto. Irene and Aneliese with their husbands moved into apartments and set up their own homes. The rest of the family bought a house and settled down nearby. Drawing five salaries, the Kasdorfs formed their own little family co-operative. In this way, they managed in short order to pay for two brand new cars, furniture, and all other necessities. Later, when Hans and his wife arrived, the family was well enough established to present them with all the furniture and appliances to start their own household. Only recently, Heinz (fourth eldest), has gone to Brazil to marry, and when he returns, he too will receive his due.

Take what comes and do the best you can

It takes a lot of hard work and good management to accomplish what the Kasdorf family has done in the last 2-1/2 years. How was it possible? Mr. Kasdorf claims the secret is co-operation within the family: "If everyone of us were to spend his own salary as he saw fit, then we would all squander our money and no one would have anything. By pooling it, and by being thrifty, we can do a lot more with a lot less."

Jacob Kasdorf works in a furniture factory and is very happy with his present way of life. He claims to have more time to relax here, since he works a set number of hours and then is free to do as he pleases. "I was worried at first . . . I didn't know what it would be like to work for someone else . . . It turns out that I like it rather well. . . ." Will he succumb to greed, to grasping for ever more money, as other new Canadians have before him? He feels that some Canadians are "spoiled" . . . "they don't know how to manage what they have. Then they want more and more. Too much money is unhealthy." Perhaps he will be spared.

Within the last few years, both Kaethe and Jacob have been back to visit Brazil. They have many friends and relatives over there, and the ties are still strong. However, although they feel that life in Curitiba was good, and although they enjoy going back periodically, they are not tempted to remain permanently. One of the main attractions Canada holds is the hope for a good future for their children.

In Brazil, all 13 children went to private school, even though the parents had to finance this themselves. At one time there were eight going at once, and since school lasts only half a day in Brazil, one shift went mornings and the other went afternoons. Needless to say, this made for hectic lunch-hours! Moreover, those remaining at home had to pitch in with father to alleviate the tremendous workload the farm created. There was little time, therefore, to do any extra studying or boning up if one of the children happened to have difficulty at school. The school system, however, did not provide much support for the floundering student, and if someone were absent a great deal, he would have little opportunity to "catch up" with the rest of the class. Mrs. Kasdorf describes the situation: "The teachers tried to do their best, but there was no emphasis on the individual child. It did not matter what the child enjoyed or disliked, and if he couldn't cope, he just slipped away. We had so much work and such a large number to look after, little time was left to help with school work."

The Canadian school system, despite all the shortcomings ascribed to it, has apparently revived the interest in learning the family had long ago lost in Brazil. "Here our children are going back to school, even those who are working, and they are learning with enthusiasm". Mrs. Kasdorf is excited when discussing this topic . . . and well she might be. Rumor has it that even Mr. Kasdorf has gone back to books and is studying English, although he is too shy to talk about it.

By now the family has adapted well to the Canadian way of life. Still, there are some things which puzzle Jacob Kasdorf. "Why have the Mennonites here given up their 'mother tongue' so quickly? Their brethren in Brazil speak it fluently and gladly, even those whose parents were already born there. In Brazil, whenever there are two Mennonite churches side by side, one German and one Portuguese, the first is overflowing with people, and the second stands almost empty on Sundays. Yet here, some of the people who do not themselves speak English fluently clamour for the abolition of German in their church."

"How can a strike by a 'handful' of people who are dissatisfied with their wages (such as in the airlines' strike) cripple an entire nation when at the same time there are so many unemployed?" To Jacob Kasdorf the solution appears so simple! Where he comes from . . . "we had no strikes anymore. There is a military government, and they would not tolerate such nonsense." In Brazil, no one has to work under conditions he doesn't like. He is simply replaced by someone who likes them better!

"Why is everyone always criticizing the government, regardless of which party is in power? In this country, to my thinking, life is better than anywhere else, and yet people are still dissatisfied. They expect the men in government to make no mistakes! Don't we all make mistakes, I, my wife, my children? How can I expect those fellows up there, who have so many more responsibilities than I to be infallible?"

At 46 years of age, with 13 children, Kaethe Kasdorf would seem a likely prospect for Women's Liberation. She must have had little time to self-actualize in the last twenty-five years! "It was not always easy," she admits "I was not always healthy, and often had hired help." Luckily it is easy to find domestics in Brazil, as the occupation is quite a respectable one over there. However, even with help there were times when she felt that she couldn't go on. "But we always managed somehow to get over it. Jacob never minded getting up at night, when I couldn't, to look after the children. When they were all little, he would often help me put them to bed in the evenings, and then we both went out to the barn to do chores." Discontent? She certainly does not look it. As a matter of fact, neither Mr. nor Mrs. Kasdorf regret having had a large family: "there is so much fun where there are so many!"

What is in store for the future? Mr. Kasdorf answers: "It is impossible to plan far ahead. Our youngest is only 10 years old, and our first responsibility is to see that all our children get what they need to grow up. By the time the last one has left home, we will be retired, I expect. When I was a young man, my father and I would sit down and plan years in advance what we would do with the farm. Now we do not know what the next month or week will bring: everything changes so fast. One must take what comes and do the best one can with it."

Eine besondere mennonitische Familie in Winnipeg

von Lore Lubosch

Unlängst besuchte ich die Familie Kasdorf. Sie sind vor zwei und ein halb Jahren aus Brasilien nach Kanada gekommen. Die Familie besteht aus Vater Jacob, Mutter Kaethe (geb. Koop), dreizehn Kindern (im Alter von 10 bis 25 Jahren), und zwei Schwiegersöhnen.

Zirka 1930 besiedelte eine Gruppe Mennoniten, die aus der Ukraine stammten, die Gegend vom Krauel Fluss und den Stoltz Plateau in der Provinz Santa Catharina. Jacob Kasdorf und Kaethe Koop, damals noch kleine Kinder von 7 und 4 Jahren, waren auch dabei. „Wir kannten uns aber noch nicht, denn ich wohnte in Witmarsum und Kaethe auf dem Stoltz Plateau“, berichtete Herr Kasdorf. Dann fuhr er schmunzelnd fort, „es wäre uns wohl auch gleichgültig gewesen. Damals hatten wir noch ganz andere Interessen“. Weiter meinte er, „Wir haben es in Brasilien leichter gehabt zum Anfang, als meine Brüder hier in Kanada. Wenn die erzählen wie sie hier in den dreissiger Jahren gearbeitet haben!“ Auf die Frage, ob die Umstellung von der Ukraine auf Brasilien denn nicht sehr schwer gewesen wäre, erwiderte er: „Wenn der Kommunismus droht, dann stellt man sich leicht um!“

Trotzdem war es nicht leicht für die Siedler in Brasilien. Frau Kasdorf erzählt sie hätten mit Beilen und Messern ihren Weg durch das Unterholz des Urwaldes gehauen, und die ersten Hütten aus Blättern gebaut. Für sie, damals vierjährig, schien alles zu hoffnungslos, und sie hat verzweifelt gefragt: „Sollen wir hier immer leben bleiben, bis wir sterben?“ Es wird den Weizenbauern von der Ukraine wohl schwer gefallen sein, sich dem neuen Land mit seinen steilen Hügeln und tiefen Schluchten anzupassen. Jedenfalls wollten ihre Wirtschaften in Santa Catharina nicht recht in Schwung kommen, und es begann ein Umzug nach Curitiba, in die Provinz Parana. In fünf Jahren war daher die Siedlung am Krauel fast verödet.

In Curitiba haben sich dann in späteren Jahren Jacob und Kaethe getroffen, haben geheiratet, und ihre eigene „Milchfarm“ gegründet. Da Herr Kasdorf selber die Milch in Flaschen tat und in die Stadt zum Verkauf brachte, hat er nicht schlecht verdient: „Sie verstehen, es gab keinen ‚Zwischenmann‘, der einem den Verdienst verkleinerte.“ erklärte er. Aber verdienten musste er ja auch, denn die Kinder kamen schnell nacheinander: dreizehn in 15 Jahren. „Wir haben drei die an einem Tag geboren sind, immer ein Jahr auseinander“, erzählte Frau Kasdorf.

Es ist der Familie in Brasilien wholer-gangen. Sie haben acht Kinder auf einmal in die Privatschule in Curitiba geschickt . . . und sie mussten es selber bezahlen. „Dort gab es kein Kindergeld wie in Kanada“, erzählte Frau Kasdorf, „aber wir haben es uns immer erlauben können den Kindern alles zu geben was sie nötig hatten“. Wie ist es in einer so grossen Familie mit dem Beschenken zu Geburtstagen und Weihnachten? Wenn man denkt was die Kinder hier alles einhamstern zu solchen Gelegenheiten, so könnte schon das „Ordnung halten“ mit den Besitztümern so vieler Kinder einem einen tüchtigen Schrecken einjagen. Die Antwort war überraschend: „Uns ging es wunderschön die Kinder reichlich zu beschenken, und es ging noch so schön wenn sie alle Spielzeug hatten. Sie hatten ihre kleinen Fahrräder, ihre grossen Puppen, ihre kleinen Wagen und alles was Kindern Freude macht. Ja, da hat sich manch einer gewundert. Damals dachte man manchmal es ging nicht mehr weiter (mit der Ordnung), aber dann ging es doch,“ sagte Frau Kasdorf, und dann fügte sie hinzu, „Wir haben auch manchmal Dienstmädchen gehabt. Ich habe öfters Hilfe gebraucht, da ich nicht immer gesund war.“ In Brasilien ist solche Hilfe leichter zu bekommen, da der Beruf des Dienstboten dort nicht minderwertige Arbeit ist.

Eine Frau die dreizehn Kinder grosszieht könnte wohl ein Kandidat für die „Women's Liberation“ sein, und man würde sich kaum darüber wundern. Doch Frau Kasdorf gibt nicht den Eindruck, dass sie mit ihrem Los unzufrieden ist. Im gegenteil. Gutaussehend, frisch, und mit einem zufriedenen, freundlichen Lächeln, berichtet sie aus ihrem Leben: „Es war meinem Mann niemals zuviel Nachts aufzustehen, die Kinder zu besorgen wenn ich nicht konnte. Auch hat er mir geholfen die Kinder ins Bett zu bringen, als noch alle klein waren, und dann habe ich mit ihm in Stall gearbeitet.“ Strahlend erklärte sie: „Wo mehr Kinder sind da ist auch mehr Vergnügen.“

Viel Vergnügen gab es bei den Kasdorfs, aber mit Arbeit gut gewürzt. Einige Zeit gingen fünf Kinder am Nachmittag in die Schule, und sechs am Vormittag. Da gab es eine beschäftigte Mittagszeit. Auch mussten die, die zu Hause blieben, kräftig mit anpacken, beim Melken und anderen Besorgungen. Mit acht Jahren konnten die Kleinen schon Kühe melken. So mussten sie schon bei Tagesgrauen hinaus, in den Stall. Der Nachbar sah diesem Trupp öfters zu, wie sie Morgens aus der Tür kamen, erst der Vater, und dann all die Kasdorfs, eines kleiner als das andere. Er behauptete sie hätten sogar das Kleinste aus der Wiege genommen und es in den Stall geschickt, zum Helfen.

Ob es nun diese frühe Erziehung zur Pflicht oder dem Hang zum zusammen halten einer grossen Familie zu verdanken ist, die Kinder haben das zusammen Arbeiten gelernt. Ich erlebte nämlich während meinem Besuch in ihrem Heim ein warhaftiges „Tischlein-deck-dich“. Ohne das Frau Kasdorf das Zimmer verlassen, oder ein Wort geredet hätte, wurde der Tisch gedeckt und die Kinder brachten einer nach dem anderen Kaffee, belegte Brötchen, und Kuchen. Nachdem wir uns gestärkt hatten, verschwand auch alles wie es gekommen war — dabei war keine Spur von dem üblichen Lärm den man bei so vielen jungen Arbeitern erwartet hätte. Auf meine Frage ob die Kinder, nun da sie nicht mehr so eine grosse Wirtschaft hätten, noch etwas zu tun fänden, antworteten die Jungsens, Arnold (10) und Ewald (11), „Wir schaufeln all den Schnee, und auf Mittag spülen wir das Geschirr“. Das letztere ist bei so einer grossen Familie nicht eine kleine Arbeit!

Während der Unterhaltung mit den Kasdorfs bekam ich den Eindruck, dass sie in Brasilien ein gutes, zufriedenes Leben genossen hatten. Finanziell mangelte es nicht, und auch das Gemeindeleben scheint dort befriedigend zu sein. Die Nächstenliebe wird buchstäblich betrieben. Vor Jahren brannte auf ihrem Hof der Stall. Der Nachbar alarmierte um drei Uhr morgens die Familie, doch Jacob Kasdorf wollte sich nicht so leicht aus der Ruhe bringen lassen. Woher sollte denn da wohl so bei klarem Wetter ein Feuer kommen? Er konnte wohl einen Witz vertragen, aber dieses war doch zu viel: einen so mitten in der Nacht aus dem Bett holen, mit so einer Dummheit! Endlich liess Er sich doch zum Fenster schleppen, und sah dann ja auch die Bescherung. Jemand der eben nicht an Nächstenliebe glaubte hatte den Stall angezündet. Es war schon fast zu spät. Etliche Kühe mussten verbrennen; viele wurden aber doch noch gerettet. Während der Stall glatt abbrannte, wurde der Nachbar, der sich mit den Kasdorfs bemühte das Feuer zu löschen, gründlich bestohlen.

Am folgenden Sonntag gab der Prediger das Geschehene in der Kirche bekannt. Er fügte auch noch hinzu, wer Mission treiben wolle, der solle sich am Montag zu den Kasdorfs begeben, und beim Wiederaufbau helfen. Montag Abend stand der Stall wieder da, nagelneu, als ob nie etwas geschehen wäre.

Jede Rose hat ihren Dorn, und auch in Brasilien war nicht alles vollkommen. Das Schulsystem liess etwas zu wünschen übrig. Zwar bemühten sich die Lehrer es in der Schule streng zu halten, und die Kinder gründlich auszubilden, doch das einzelne Kind wurde nicht so genau unter die Lupe genommen. Auch wurde nicht viel Wert darauf gelegt das Interesse zum Lernen zu entwickeln. Wer nicht mit der Klasse mitkam, der blieb eben links liegen. So möchte ein Schüler wohl bald die Lust zum Studium verlieren, und wo die Eltern nicht Zeit hatten mitzuhelfen, konnte das Kind kaum hoffen es zu einer guten Bildung zu bringen.

Wer aber in Brasilien nicht Bildung hat, ist so zu sagen zur Armut verurteilt. Es gibt dort sehr reiche und sehr arme Menschen, aber wenige die zum Mittelstand gehören.

Herr und Frau Kasdorf sind von den kanadischen Schulen sehr beeindruckt.

Die Lehrer haben sich bemüht damit die Kinder die Sprache schnell lernten. Frau K. meint begeistert: „Die Lehrer kümmern sich darum das der Schüler mitkommt. Auch schauen sie danach was das Kind lieber lernt. Sogar unsere grossen, die dort das Lernen ganz aufgegeben hatten gehen wieder zur Schule, und sie lernen mit Begeisterung!“

Warum sind die Kasdorfs denn eigentlich nach Kanada gekommen, nachdem sie 40 Jahre in Brasilien zufrieden lebten?! Die mangelhaften Schulen werden es doch nicht gewesen sein . . .

Die Stadt Curitiba verbreitete sich so, dass die Milchfarmen in der nahen Umgebung weiter hinaus auf das Land ziehen mussten. Ein Umzug hätte den Kasdorfs viel Geld und Mühe gekostet. Die Kinder hätten in der Stadt ausarbeiten müssen um das Geld zu verschaffen; und das wollten sie nicht. Dann wollten sie lieber nach Kanada, und vom Neuen anfangen. Ein Bruder, Peter Kasdorf, der schon seit 1930 hier im Land ist, hat denn sogleich für alle eingereicht und auch für sie gebürgt. Zwei Töchter, Irene und Anneliese, waren schon verheiratet, aber auch ihre Männer entschlossen sich mitzukommen. Hans, der zweitälteste, blieb noch zurück um zu heiraten, und kam dann nach einem Jahr mit seiner Frau nach. Es wurden für 13 Kinder, drei Schwiegerkinder, und zwei Eltern eingereicht: also für 18 Personen.

Jetzt ist die Familie aber schon wieder gewachsen. Jim Edward, Sohn von Hans Kasdorf, wurde vor drei Monaten geboren: das erste Grosskind, ein Kanadier! Außerdem ist Heinz, 22 Jahre, jetzt nach Brasilien gefahren um sich auch eine junge Frau nach Kanada zu bringen. Er kehrt bald wieder zurück; „und dann bekommt er von uns seine Möbel und den Anfang wie die Anderen auch“ sagte mir Frau Kasdorf so nebenbei. Ich staunte.

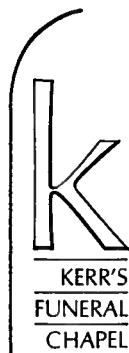

Die Familie hat in den zwei und ein halb Jahren, die sie hier sind, gut gewirtschaftet. „Vom ersten Tag haben wir hier gearbeitet“, erklärt Herr K., „und wir haben fünf Gehälter in eine Kasse gelegt.“ Nun besitzen sie zwei neue Autos, (schon bezahlt), ein nettes Haus, alles Möbel, und es blieb noch genug übrig damit Frau K. vor anderthalb Jahren nach Brasilien zu Besuch fahren konnte. Alle sind fest überzeugt, dass wenn jeder nur für sich gearbeitet hätte, wie das hier in so vielen Heimen üblich ist, dann hätten sie nie so viel in so kurzer Zeit geleistet.

Zur Zeit gehen Arnold (10 Jahre alt), Ewald (11), Alfred (13), Rudi (14), Erna (16), und Elvira (17), noch vollständig zur Schule. Elvira, schon in Grad 10, geht in die neue Berufsschule in East Kildonan, und will sich als Sekretärin ausbilden. Waldemar, 18, arbeitet zwar den ganzen Tag bei Regehr's Printing, aber abends lernt er fleissig und beendigt sein Grad 11. Marlene, 19, arbeitet im Concordia Hospital, und lernt abends noch English. Robert, 20, hat schon zwei Jahre bei Derksen Plumbing gearbeitet, und macht auch sein Grad 11 in den Abenden. Er hat schon die Genehmigung erhalten einen Kursus mitzumachen nach dessen Abschluss er seine Papiere als ‚Plumber' erhält. Heinz, 22, und Hans, 24, arbeiten bei Martin Bergen als Färber (Tapezierer). Dann ist da Irene, 23, die mit ihrem Mann Kürzlich auf sechs Wochen nach Brasilien gefahren ist, und Anneliese, 25, die sich die Aufsicht für ein 10 Stöckiges Apartmenthaus übernommen hat.

Herr Kasdorf arbeitet bei A. A. DeFehr, wo er Möbel glättet (sandring). „Ich dachte immer es würde mir schwer fallen auszuarbeiten, da ich doch immer mein eigener Herr gewesen bin. Ich war immer auf der Milchfarm, und es war so selbstverständlich, dass ein Mensch wie ich ohne eine Kuh nicht leben könnte. Aber es geht gut, sogar sehr gut".

„In Kanada lebt es sich besser wie je woanders, und doch sind so viele unzufrieden," wundert sich Herr Kasdorf. „Immer wird über die Regierung geschimpft. Das ist in Brasilien garnicht erlaubt. Da ist eine Militäregierung, und es gibt keine Streike. Wer nicht zufrieden ist, der wird abgelegt, und ein Neuer kommt an seine Stelle." Er kann es nicht verstehen, dass hier eine Handvoll Arbeiter in den Fluggesellschaften das ganze Land lahmlegen können, wo es doch so viele Arbeitslose gibt die die Lücken füllen könnten. Überhaupt kommt es ihm so vor, dass die Menschen ein wenig „verdorben" sind; „Das Geld ist leicht zu verdienen, und so verstehen sie es nicht zusammenzuhalten. Dann wollen sie immer „mehr". Zuviel Geld ist ungeseund". Er ist der Sucht nach dem Dollar noch nicht erlegen, und kann auch über „Zu wenig Zeit" nicht beklagen. Hier arbeitet er nur gewisse Stunden am Tag, und dann ist er frei; in Brasilien war er eigentlich nur dann frei wenn er sich die Zeit von der Arbeit nahm.

Im Vergleich zu der Jugend in Brasilien, scheint die unsere den Kürzeren zu ziehen. Herr Kasdorf meint, dass die Jugend hier zu viel zu sagen hat; jedoch kam es mir garnicht so vor als ob seine eigenen Kinder wenig zu sagen hätten, oder dass man auf sie nicht hörte. Die Familie scheint sich im höheren Grade durchaus demokratisch entwickelt zu haben, aber der Respekt vor den Eltern ist geblieben. Hier gerade steckt der Dorn. In Brasilien ist es üblich, dass die jungen Leute jeden Erwachsenen den sie auf der Strasse erkennen, begrüssen, und immer einen Erwachsenen mit „Sie" ansprechen. Auch steht ein junger Mensch ganz automatisch im Bus oder im Zimmer auf, wenn ein Älterer eintritt, und bietet seinen Platz an. Ich musste leider gestehen, dass diese Sitten hier in Kanada im aussterben sind. Im Übrigen meinte Herr K., dass die Jugend hier zu wenig ihr „Ausserliches" pflegt: „Ein Mensch der nicht die Haare beschnidet und sich pflegt hat keine gute Meinung von sich, und beeinflusst auch das Urteil seiner Umgebung." — In dieser Meinung ist er bisher unerschütterlich.

Es wird ja wohl auch die Zukunft bei den Kasdors viele Änderungen wirken. Der Mensch passt sich eben seiner Umgebung an, und vielleicht werden auch die Kasdorf Jungens eines Tages lange Haare tragen. Aber man hat doch das Gefühl, dass ein solides Fundament gebaut ist, und was kommt muss gerade stehen. Für die Zukunft haben sie keine besondere Pläne. „Zuerst müssen wir einmal für die Kinder sorgen, dass ein jeder zu dem Seinigen kommt", sagte Frau Kasdorf. Nun, man kann nicht zweifeln, dass in dieser Familie jeder zu dem Seinigen kommen wird, denn trotzdem es viele sind, scheint einer für den anderen zu sorgen. In dieser Familie hat nicht das einzelne Kind die Aufmerksamkeit der Eltern entbehrt, sondern die Aufmerksamkeit und Liebe vieler Geschwister genossen. mm

Dear Sir:

On behalf of the Executive and members of St. Agnes Guild of the Children's Hospital, I would like to thank you for obtaining among your Mennonite people members who have volunteered to knit children's garments for sale in our Gift Shop in the Children's Hospital.

Mrs. Blair recently displayed to the Executive of the Guild an infant's jacket, bonnet and bootee set which had been knit by one of your volunteers. The quality of the work is excellent and will sell readily in the Shop.

May I point out that all monies received from sales in the Shop are turned over to the Children's Hospital Research Foundation.

Again our grateful thanks,
Mrs. W. K. McIntyre,
Corresponding Secretary,
St. Agnes Guild,
Children's Hospital.

Editor's Note: The response to our note in the Feb. issue asking for volunteer knitters was excellent, as this letter indicates. Ladies from many points in Manitoba are involved.

Dear Sir:

Thank you for having included us on your list. We do enjoy reading your magazine. We wish you good luck and success.

Yours truly,
John and Elizabeth Wiebe,
Fort Garry.

Dear Sir:

Thank you for sending us copies of the Mennonite Mirror. We appreciated receiving them and are looking forward to reading your future editions.

Please accept $5.00 to help cover some of your mailing and publishing costs.

Yours truly,
F. P. Giesbrecht.

Dear Editors:

Congratulations on producing a new publication of distinctive calibre!

The first two issues of the Mirror recently came into my hands and were read with great interest. It seems to me that its scope and significance go beyond provincial boundaries. In any case, I trust that you will permit a non-Manitoban to subscribe!

I am enclosing a cheque for $2.50 in the hope that you still have copies of the first issues available, so that I will eventually have the first volume complete.

Sincerely,
Leonore H. Ewert (Ph.D.)
Victoria, B.C.

Dear Editors:

We have been reading with interest the report by E. E. Reimer on the trip to Russia. And while reading it we are (my wife and I), reliving the trip again.

We were wondering how the younger generation would see Russia. We the older generation have been suspected of being prejudiced. Therefore we were especially interested in the impression the trip would make on the younger generation.

I must say Mr. Reimer is a keen observer and that he has expressed the feelings of the older generation very well, I think.

Sincerely,
G. J. Martens,
Cartwright.

Dear Sirs:

Enclosed find a subscription for Mirror. It was a good surprise to have someone start the history of our people. My Grandfathers both came here in 1874 and settled west of the Red River. Could you get someone to write about the first settlers here? My Uncle Klaus Peters went to Russia 12 times to bring settlers here before 1900 — and also a history about H. H. Ewert, he has done a lot to educate our people.

Yours truly,
Peter Loewen.

Dear Sirs:
Enclosed please find $5.00 for two years subscription to the Mirror and $2.50 for the Museum in Steinbach.

I enjoy reading the Mirror very much. After being away from the Mennonite Community for over 24 years it is nice to read about people and places you knew real well but no longer seem to get around to see, but still think about.

Keep up the good work.
Sincerely,
Ben Giesbrecht.

P.S. Just a suggestion. It would be very interesting to know how many of our friends or relations are still living that are over 80 years old. If the facts were known, I believe you would find that the Mennonites would perhaps set a record in longevity. B.J.G.

Tax Refusal

Contributions Increase

Akron, Pennsylvania — An increasing number of people are sending war tax money to Mennonite Central Committee, instead of paying them to the United States government for military use, said Calvin Britsch, MCC assistant treasurer.

Contributions of tax money are of two kinds, Britsch said. More people are refusing to pay the federal tax levied on the use of telephones. This 10 per cent tax is seen as a direct source for military expenditures. People who refuse this tax simply subtract the 10 per cent from their telephone bill and send it instead to MCC.

We also receive contributions from people who refuse part of their federal income tax, Britsch said. Several people, for example, have withheld and have sent in as a contribution 10 or 15 per cent of their income tax in a symbolic protest against the Vietnam war and the whole United States military machine. Others who have had less than the total tax withheld send that remainder to MCC rather than to the Internal Revenue Service.

Tax refusal contributions, unless otherwise designated, are usually applied to the MCC Peace Section budget.

The crossword puzzle is back. It is anticipated that the Mirror will alternate back and forth between the Mix-up of last month and the crossword puzzle.

This month's contest is related to the theme of the travel. Many of the answers should be easily familiar to travelled readers.

Eric Schmidt, of 295 Belvidere Street, Winnipeg, was the winner of the Mix-Up contest for March. He will be awarded two long playing records of his choice.

Answers to March's Mix-Up are commit, coarse, bridge, chosen, master, zodiac, nation, charity, and Moody Manitoba Morning. Those readers who believed that the letter "r" in charity should have been circled instead of the "i" were correct; the mirror apologizes for the mistake.

Entries to the crossword puzzle should be submitted by May 20.

The winner will be selected by a draw from among the correct entries received. Prize will be two tickets to the Manitoba Golden Voices Production.

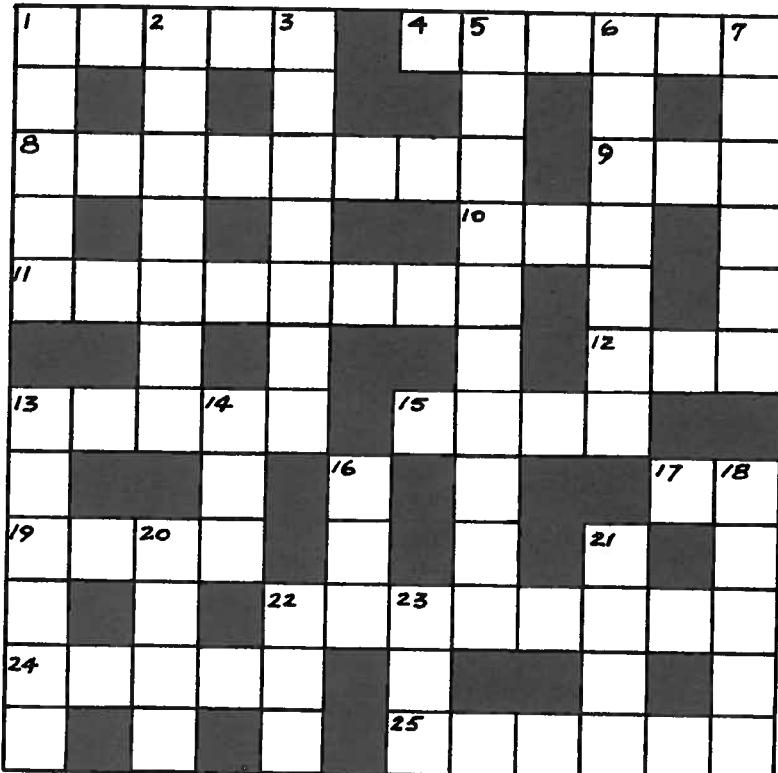

Important Announcement Regarding Triple-E Motor Home

Neonex Corporation announces the acquisition of all shares of Triple-E Motor Home of Winkler, subject to approval of the Board of Directors.

A new manufacturing plant in Winkler will be built to replace the motor home and travel trailer facilities that were totally destroyed by fire in March. It is anticipated that the new plant will be ready for production this fall in time for the introduction of the 1973 model.

General Manager of the Neonex Leisure Products Central Division in Canada is Phil Ens who will be in charge of the entire Neonex Winkler operation, including the Dutch Mobile Home manufacturing facilities acquired for cash earlier this week.

This move will give Neonex six manufacturing plants in North America.
