Dear Sir/Madam:

Thank you for mailing me the photocopies of the genealogies I had requested. I have mailed my cheque in a separate envelope.

In checking the Krahn genealogy (No. 92 from the Katie Peters Collection), I noticed that it included some information that was not consistent with what I have gathered.

When I began researching our family history 22 years ago, my father told me all he could remember about his ancestors and relatives. My paternal grandmother was Katharina Krahn (1863-1901), the daughter of Jakob Krahn of Georgstal, Fuerstenland (South Russia), who was the son of Cornellius Krahn. My father told me that Bernhard Krahn (son of Cornelius Krahn and Anna Rempel) had been my great-grandfather's brother.

I corresponded with Dr. Cornelius Krahn of North Newton, Kansas, and in his letter of November 16, 1970, he told me that his father was Cornelius Krahn, who, in turn was a son of Peter Krahn who had lived and died in Rosenthal (Chortitz Colony, Russia); that Peter B. Krahn and Cornelius B. Krahn had been second cousins of his father (copy enclosed).

According to the information in the genealogy No. 92 from your collection, Dr. Cornelius Krahn's father would have been a first cousin to Peter B. Krahn and Cornelius B. Krahn, which does not agree with the information I received personally from Dr. Krahn.

I also corresponded with Dr. Krahn's first cousin, Abram Krahn of Saskatchewan a few years later, and in his response of November 27, 1978, he informed me that his grandfather was Peter Jacob Krahn, of Rosenthal. That information provided me with one further clue: his great-grandfather must have been a Jakob Krahn (copy also enclosed). The information in the genealogy No. 92 from your collection, lists the grandfather of Dr. Cornelius Krahn (of North Newton, Kansas) and Abram Krahn (of Saskatchewan) as being Peter Kornelius Krahn, which does not agree with the information I received personally from Abram Krahn.

The genealogy No. 92 does not include a Jakob in the list of children of Johann Krahn and Anna Andres, nor a Jakob in the list of children of Cornellius Krahn and Anna Rempel. But that does not rule out the possibility that both families may have included a Jakob. In B.H. Unruh's book, Die niederlaendisch-niederdeutschen Hintergruende der mennonitischen Ostwanderungen im 16., 18, und 19 Jahrhundert, the same list of September 20, 1808 which includes the entry for the Johann Krahn family naming the children living with their parents at the time (p. 263) also includes an entry for Jacob Andre(a)s (p. 264). It lists him as head of Family 25 in Einlage on September 20, 1808, as having come from the village of Walldorf, Elbing District in 1795, of Mennonite Religion, a farmer, aged 68 (meaning he had been born in 1740); his son Jacob (Andre[a)s) age 34 (born 1774); and his grandson, Jacob Krahn, age 22 (born 1786) and wife Magdalena, age 20 (born 1788)!!! It seems that this Jacob Krahn must have been an older son of Johann Krahn and Anna Andres, already married and living with his maternal grandfather when the list was compiled. It seems he must have been the great-grandfather of Dr. Cornelius Krahn and his cousin Abram Krahn, which would indeed mean that Dr. Krahn's father and Peter B. Krahn and Cornelius B. Krahn were second cousins. According to the naming system used by our ancestors at that time, children were usually given the same names as their parents, grandparents, and uncles and aunts. In the list of children of Peter ("Kornelius") Krahn (C4-D1, in the genealogical record No. 92 from your collection), the eldest son was named Peter (C4-D1-E2) (after his father), the second son Jacob (C4-D1-E4) (after his paternal grandfather), and the third one Cornelius (C4-D1-E6) (after an uncle?). If Peter (C4-D1) had been a son of Kornelius Krahn, then the second son would have been named Cornelius, and not Jacob. The fact that he was named Jacob, seems to support the information provided by Abram Krahn which indicates that the father of Peter Krahn was Jacob. Also, the eldest daughter was named Katharina (after her maternal grandmother), the second one was Elizabeth (after her mother), and the third one Helena (a form of "Magdalena", after her paternal grandmother?). Also, among the descendants of Peter Krahn (C4-D1) listed in the genealogical record No. 92, the name Magdalena appears two times.

Since genealogy No. 92 does not include any reference to its source of information, nor any documentation to support it, I question its validity. I find that the information I received personally from Dr. Krahn and his cousin Abram Krahn is more valid.

The fact that the earlier Jacob Krahn's name was not included in the genealogical record No. 92, leads me to think that quite possibly the next generation's records are not complete either. The list of children of Cornelius Krahn and Anna Rempel does not include a Jacob (who would have been my great-grandfather). But that does not rule out the possibility that he may actually have been a member of that family. Both Bernhard and Johann Krahn, sons of Cornelius Krahn and Anna Rempel, had a son named Jakob, which seems to suggest they must have had a brother by that name. Also, one of the daughters of Kornelius Krahn (C4) was Ida (Idchen, a German from of "Edith") (C4-D7). One of my grandmother's sisters was also named Edith. It seems to fit that my grandmother's sister Edith was named after an aunt.

There are two possibilities why my great-grandfather's name is not included in the list of children of Cornelius Krahn and Anna Rempel. One possibility is that this Jakob, born ca. 1840, was older and already married and living away from home, or had already died, by the time some of the younger members were growing up. The other possibility is that his name may have been deliberately omitted from the family list. My father told me that his grandfather, Jakob Krahn, who was an auctioneer, had the habit of getting drunk after conducting a sale, and had died while intoxicated. It is possible that his brothers may have disowned him because of his drinking problem and the manner in which he died, and may have deliberately omitted his name from their family records. When I first started researching our family history 22 years ago, my father referred me to an old lady in Vancouver who had a family record that should include our ancestors' names also. I contacted the lady and borrowed the book from her, but the very page that had included the information of our ancestors had been torn out. I thought at the time that someone had wanted that information so badly that, rather than copy it down, had simply removed the whole page. Now I realize that the page may have been torn out to deliberately exclude that information from the record. But removing recorded data from a record does not change reality. If my great-grandfather was really born a member of that family, nothing can change that.

The only record I have found to date that possibly is of the Jakob Krahn who was my great-grandfather, is in the Fuerstenland Mennonite Church Records. The entry of Person number 21, baptized in 1887 is: Maria Krahn, born 12 May 1867, from Georgsthal, the daughter of the deceased Jakob Krahn (copy also enclosed). It seems that this entry is of my grandmother's younger sister, Mary (Maria), since all the facts fit with the information I had received from my father. The little abbreviated word, "verst." ("deceased") indicates that Jakob Krahn must have died before 1887. My father (who was born in 1892) told me he remembered visiting his widowed maternal grandmother when he was a child.

Thanks again for sending me the photocopies of the genealogies I had requested. I have appreciated very much the opportunity to check them. I shall continue my search for information about our Krahn ancestors.

Sincerely

Agatha (Mrs. Hank) Ratzlaff

Dear Mrs. Ratzlaff:

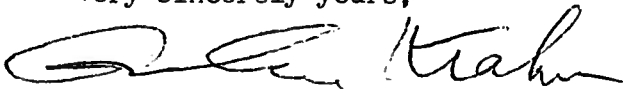

Thank you very much for your letter of October 20 in which you relate that the article "Fürstenland" of the Mennonite Encyclopedia contains some mistakes. Although the volume has already been sent to the press, it will be my aim to get the corrections before the printing occurs.

In your personal letter of October 20 you relate some very interesting information in regard to the Krahn family history which I appreciate very much.

Unfortunately, thus far I have not taken out much time in family history. Peter B. Krahn whom you mention was the best informed in this field. All I know is that Peter B. Krahn and his brother Cornelius Krahn (now in Winkler) were second cousins of my father Cornelius Krahn; who, in turn, was a son of Peter Krahn who lived and died in Rosenthal near Chortitza. My father's brother was also Jakob Krahn who died in Saskatchewan. His sons Jakob, Peter, and Abram are my cousins. The only surviving sister of my father lives in Winnipeg. She is Mrs. Jakob (Anna) Andres. I do not know whether this will be of much help to you.

I may add this paragraph that during my visit in Russia I saw the place of my birth in Rosenthal as well as the school which I attended and met quite a number of my relatives, including my brother and sisters. If I can be of any help to you let me know about it. Thank you for writing and conveying this valuable information to me.

Very sincerely yours,

Cornelius Krahn
